CHAPTER HIGHLIGHT

On Capital Day, Apalachee High School TSA and FCCLA joined together to go on a trip to the middle of Atlanta to visit the Capitol and the Georgia Aquarium. Going inside the Capitol, members of the two groups got to see the paintings of government officials over the centuries and many historical artifacts. They also had the opportunity to observe a congressional session that was being held. After experiencing how the state government functions on a day-to-day basis, the group took a short walk to the aquarium. Naturally, the group members split into smaller groups and explored what the aquarium had to offer them. The Georgia Aquarium had jellyfish exhibits and a sea lion show, which TSA and FCCLA members greatly enjoyed. The students who attended the field trip were able to take a day off from school to celebrate their accomplishments with people who share their interests.
